Abstract: Leadership exists in our day to day life and influences our activities. Sometimes leader enjoys their position and take privilege of it and some he has to perform himself as a responsible person. Leadership does not exist in isolation it has the followers. It depends upon the followers' efficiency that leader should be more responsible or more free. How much leader is responsible it's also depends upon the 3'C of the leader that is commitment, competencies and confidence. sThese three are vital quality that every leader most posses.

I. INTRODUCTION

Leadership is the requirement of every organization. Leaders are required at every level of the organization. No matter what the level of leadership or the type of organization, the opportunity of leadership is the power to make a difference A Leader is one who shows the path and directs the followers towards it. Leadership initiates with the person's responsiveness and reflects the state of mind pessimistic or optimistic. The most important thing here is it has impact on the followers Leaders have a particular responsibility. They are not only accountable to get the job done, but also to enlarge, motivate, develop the work force. Leaders help themselves and others to do the right things. They set direction, build an inspiring vision, and create something new. Some time the leaders have to be more responsible and sometime they have freedom. [1]

1.1 Meaning

Leadership means to influence the follower and take their support to accomplish the task or goal.

1.4 Leader ship Means More Responsibility

The human being who wants to survive independently must be responsible. As a child grows up, and mature he/she is taught to be more responsible for the things around him/her. However, the sense of responsibility comes at different times for different people it is necessary for an individual to stand up to his commitment loyalty and dedication. This helps in construct and build up the trust and respect for him, from the people surrounding him.[3]

- A leader leads the group and he is the middle man between the group member and the management so must be responsible.
- Leader has to take the decision it is responsibility of a leader to take analytical decision.
- Leader is the only the answerable on the behalf of group and he is reflector of the group so a leader should be responsible.
- Leader earns his position to set up a positive example it leads to the responsibility.
- Leader commit to the organization mission by follow the ethics and integrity between the members of group.

- Being a leader means the responsibility of service to others – the people who follow him.
- Responsible leaders are all set to confront the challenge which is the logic of their industry.
- Leaders are prepared to influence others to do the right thing.
- Good leaders recognize when to chase the regulations, and when to use common sense in the face of unintentional outcomes.
- people around the leader who see him as a leader has some expectation so leader must be responsible. [5]

1.5 Leadership means more freedom

As we know that Manager has the subordinate but leader have the follower. Manger has to get the things done through the others by giving them financial and non financial benefits. but the leader has the follower so they ultimately follow his leader without any lure of lush. In this point of view that the leaders are free from the work his followers work on the behalf of him. Leader can enjoy the more freedom when

- His followers have flexibility to do the work and they are not time bound to do any work and leader his free from his responsibility after distribution of the work.
- fun at the work place leads to more productivity and leader gets the more freedom
- When the culture of work place would be less bossy people will follow the boss and boss or leader will get the more freedom in that case trust will be built among them.
- When the leader delegates his authority he gets more freedom so his subordinate will be responsible for the work. [7]
- In any of organization the work in progression foam the followers and subordinate wants the authority to take their decision by own so the leader is free.
- By follow the Laissez-faire leadership style the leader is free he just provide the tools and resources to complete the task, a very little guidance is from the leader, followers have to solve the problem by their own, complete freedom to followers to take the decision. [6]

II. CONCLUSION

At the conclusion point we can say that it depends upon the situation that leader is more free or responsible. Leader is not always free or responsible. It depends upon the it's team mates if they are active, self responsible and willingly do the work than leader is free otherwise leader have to distribute the work and proper check is required in this regard and leader has to be responsible. The thing is note worthy here is if the leader is free than he gives more respect or freedom to his follower. He always consults with the group while taking the decision. But most of people say that leadership means more responsibility and leader has to manage the most complex natured people to work with him. As a leader has to schedule the task for follower.
