

Devil X God: 3,200 Plus Years Of Huge Losses

M. R. Pinheiro

Abstract:

Even though the war is historic, having started by the time the first couple of humans was put on Earth, a natural female and a natural male, we now live the Final Battle. Time to make your choice: Our God is giving you all information you can possibly ask for so that your choice is an informed one. We intend to tell what is involved in this war and expose the thinking of both creators, the creator of heavens, Our God, and the creator of hell, the devil, as well as that of the son of the creator of heavens, Jesus, and satan, one of the devil's helpers. We also intend to explain what is involved in the process of becoming an Elohim (Jesus' realm) and in the process of existing in hell. We still would like to explain how this battle affects humans who are incarnated and therefore exist as humans in the 'right now'. On the way to doing that, we explain how the 3 main books we are obliged (so far) to call holy, so the book of Islam, the book of Judaism and the book of Christianity, were actually written by the satanic brotherhood and therefore do not have anything holy in them: they are actually making us experience hell on Earth, while still incarnated, and they mean adoring the devil, not Our God, who is the only actual God.

I. Introduction

It seems that the devil was originally an angel of Our God, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. It seems that the Goddess, wife of Our God, wanted to create obstacles to our progression toward the Elohim Planet (where both of them are from and we now call it heavens) when she selected an angel of Our God, the most fragile in his wisdom and synchronization with the vibes of the Holy Ghost.

The God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob is in charge of guiding/mentoring us in the process of us learning how to always be tuned to the Holy Ghost, something like learning how to always keep our spirit tuned to the right radio station therefore so that we can capture the transmission of an intended radio wave.

After a few thousands of years of existence of human kind, Our God and His Goddess decided to create a helper to fix the message of Our God: people seemed to be confused about even what a god should be. They decided they needed to receive correct instruction, instruction via example of also ways to deal with others, ways to praise Our God and ways to receive guidance from Him. At the same time, they wanted to assess the difficulties involved with the spiritual growth of humans.

During those thousands of years, lots of people refused to converse or get guidance from Our God and some of them radically opposed even having His name mentioned close to where they were. Our God sends communications in a special way, which is not the Holy Ghost or the soul, but He only does that if we want to receive that communication. Those who received it were extremely happy but they were usually descents of people who had equally been happy and asked to receive His tokens during their lifetime.

Initially, whoever received the communications and knew about Him was happy telling others but, with time, those receiving that communication stopped passing information to others because, first of all, some rebelled against the way things were, like we need to praise Our God properly, for He likes being praised, we need to recognize the need for His advice and guidance, for He is Our God and therefore He does not waste Himself, we need to tell the truth always, being allowed to at most omit things, we need to do things with good intention, we need to observe what He says, whatever it is, since, first of all, we looked for Him as a guide/mentor, so that we are sure He is capable and all-knowing, we need to have a pure heart and a clean soul. Those that rebelled were not always happy with the result of their consultation, since, on top of all else, Our God only answers what He is asked, so that, if we don't know how to ask or what to ask, we don't get the guidance we need from Him.

The amount of unhappy people grew and, little by little, this particular group, which nowadays is called the satanic brotherhood, increased in size. Those people decided that, if the devil can keep our soul in his realm and therefore stop us from living in the Elohim Planet after death if Jesus judges it not suitable for the Elohim Planet or to keep on progressing toward it, the thing was making everyone down here sin and sin to maximum, since they then would not need to ever bow to Our God and the Elohim would have to take us anyway, like they must need or want members of our race there for some reason, since they created us.

In Development, we explain how the two realms created since back then work: heavens, or the Elohim Planet, and hell. We then explain how Jesus manages our spiritual growth and each general manager of the satanic brotherhood is someone who can be told to have earned the rights to be called satan (the brotherhood, as the name says, is formed of exclusively 'brothers', so males, and males who remain as biological males, so no transgenders allowed. On top, they seem to be all of black colored skin). Following that, we describe a few moments in history where displays of force from both sides occurred: God/Jesus and the devil/satan.

Development

We can always call the maximum leader of the satanic brotherhood satan, regardless of who they are, since one only progresses in it if they progress in levels of crime/atrocities against humanity and we must assume the maximum leader will always be the worst of the kind each time, so that the satanic brotherhood member who is commanding everyone else on the day can easily be called satan. The devil is then unrelated to satan and the figures exist in separate from each other.

The satanic brotherhood has frequently chosen to meet underground, given that their thinking and practices are illegal everywhere on Earth all the time, since, even though we may find countries in which most people don't choose Our God (therefore are demoniac), those still don't choose the ways of satan or of the brotherhood. Islam should be a preferred target for the satanic in terms of recruitment, because it is a philosophy that allows for half of the people to be attacked and violated in all ways, with any impossible-for-a-Christian-to-image atrocity and the other half also gets what Christians consider to be heavy crime happening against them sometimes (males are stoned to death in Islam still nowadays if, for instance, they burn the book of Islam [1], use the name 'Alah' in the 'wrong' way or commit adultery [2], and get hands chopped off if, for instance, they are accused of stealing [3]). Yet, Islam believes they are following a god and a god that is a good god, therefore gives them good things, such as going to heavens (Co-pilot: "Jannah is free from pain, suffering, and sorrow. It is a place of eternal peace and happiness." and "believers are reunited with their loved ones and enjoy the company of righteous people, prophets, and angels") after death and, according to Co-pilot, receiving guidance on living a righteous and fulfilling life. Because they then want to live a righteous life, satanism ALSO THERE is doomed to existing underground.

Already on the first degree of the brotherhood, the member is asked to kill father and mother (the brotherhood then replaces them, just like Al Qaeda does for its members (so that 'nobody' notices that they passed), and the top members of Al Qaeda are all part of the brotherhood, as explained, apart from Leinha, who however started a satanic sisterhood that has the same practices apart from choice of idol (has to be Baal. The brotherhood gives a wide range of idols instead, even though those include Baal, way that she, 'Nelson', the devil and 'Osama' found of still being together, all choosing to adore Baal (they then sometimes go there and eat children 'together', like they cook them and then carry them to the holes they built, each one in their own hole, the idol marking the hole of 'Osama' having a stone over its head, like his hole is right below it), and that is what allowed for them to build the underground facility in Easter Island, where they also built the so famous gigantic statues, building them underground and then getting them to pierce Earth from below as they emerge) and target (the brotherhood targets women in first place), and plans to convert into a black male in the last stage of her life so that she also becomes part of the brotherhood (with us again here thinking it is composed of only black males).

One of the most recent public displays of rites of the satanic brotherhood happened in Australia in 2019: Al Qaeda 'Nelson' raped a male who was using the ID 'Mert Ney', then killed a woman who was using the ID 'Michaela Dunn' by stabbing her neck [4]. He then drank from the blood of the woman and dressed 'Mert' with her clothes plus dressed 'Mert's' clothes and shoes himself [4]. He then made 'Mert' run after stabbing yet another woman, made 'Mert' hold the knife before putting him to run (666), and he called police before doing that, so that police would see him full of blood on 'Michaela's' top ('Nelson' passed the knife three times on his top: one for father, one for son and one for holy spirit) and immediately associate him with the crimes committed by 'Nelson' [4]. Another one is the case of 'Jennifer Shuett' [5]: a little girl is abducted, put in a car with 'Braganca', he says he is a police officer, he passes her to another male who was the father of the boy 'Braganca' believes was in love with her, member of the brotherhood, the father drags her in a field without clothes on, passes the knife on her throat forming a smile with it but leaves her alive, all calculated to the last dot, 'Braganca' comes and rapes her, she is found by the boy who is supposedly in love with her, the father is next to him and tells him to silence over that, she ends up in the hospital and surviving, 'Braganca' appears there pretending to be police again, replaces her with a usurper and takes her to a place where she will have a marital experience with him before being 'finally' killed.

The satanic brotherhood has the oldest set of scriptures of all the 4 religious groups we refer to in his paper (Christianity, Judaism, Islam and Satanism): their bible, that is, the satanic bible, which is different, very different, from the devil's bible [6], since the devil's bible was actually written by Catholic people, as for what most believe (see the quote from Co-pilot: 'The Codex Gigas, also known as the Devil's Bible, was created in the early 13th century in the Benedictine monastery of Podlažice in Bohemia (modern-day Czech Republic). The manuscript is believed to have been written by a single monk, whose identity remains unknown. Given that the Codex Gigas was created in a Benedictine monastery, it is highly likely that the scribe was a Catholic monk. The texts included in the Codex Gigas, such as the works of Isidore of Seville and Flavius Josephus, were compiled by this monk. Both Isidore of Seville and Flavius Josephus were historical figures whose works were included in the manuscript, but they were not the actual writers of the Codex Gigas itself. So, while the scribe who compiled the Codex Gigas was likely a Catholic monk, the authors of the individual texts included in the manuscript were not all Catholic, dates from more than 3,200 years ago even though there is no trace of such material anywhere accessible to us.

Despite some (that would be the own satanic brotherhood members) spreading rumours that the Codex Gigas is a result of a pact with the devil, we know for sure that there is no trace of anything demoniac in it that be not a drawing, apparently made by 'Braganca'/the devil (he told me it was him and gave me some of the details of his achievement and not only he started the church of the devil in the USA but I believe he is the incarnated devil), depicting the devil: something really ridiculous, as if made by someone who is less than 10yo, added to it many years after it was written. The devil would have gone to the only library in the world that had a copy of such a book and opened it over the table, since it was accessible to anyone who entered the library. He then would have entertained himself by drawing the devil on the page that was blank, apparently the last page in the book, for not liking the book, thinking it was too boring. For some reason, he was never interrupted while doing such a thing. Co-pilot says the book was kept in Sweden during the time the devil would have played with it like that: National Library of Sweden. According to Co-pilot, by the time that it is likely that the devil would have done that (1950-1980), the book was available at such a library only via special request. The devil says he entered, staff saw him enter, and he requested the book at the counter. Apparently all materials used to make the drawing were found over the table he sat at. Notice here that this is a reason for the entire brotherhood to celebrate (even though we theorized that all members of such a brotherhood would have to be black males, existing as males, as explained before, so no transgenders allowed, the devil figures as white, since the Al Qaeda 666/head bug allows for change of skin colour, actually almost instantaneous change (black 'Nelson' goes away for 5 minutes and comes back as white)). They decided to do things in this way because, in the past, whites marked the blacks as evil/demoniac and unwanted from seeing them engaging in the satanic brotherhood practices, therefore establishing segregation of races and considering them to be lesser. The devil tells us that the black members of the brotherhood were always the most violent ones, implying that the brotherhood is also composed of whites, yet he also told us that the 'brother' (replacement [8]) of 'Napoleon' that the brotherhood is so proud of, with them saying that he reached the highest possible level, 33, so age of Christ, therefore was the most violent/criminal/coward one, as for what Christians think of those terms, was a black: The natural brother of Napoleon, who obviously also got usurped, as well as the rest of his small family, and at least those, apparently lived far from Napoleon (another town or something, probably very far), and the usurper than mostly stayed at home, which was a place that was very well protected from the public view. We also believe 'Septimius', from the Roman Empire, got usurped by a black when he was white by the time he started governing a place close to Saudi Arabia, from where he sent a few of his 'initiates' (brotherhood) to Saudi Arabia to start spreading 'news' there. That is because of a strong feeling and finding images of 'Septimius' that tell us he is black): the so-called misinformation campaign, where, among others, people who belong to Our God in a noticeable way are 'changed into' demoniac in the thinking of human kind through the satanization of biographies.

Studying and proving this is very easy if we have Our God's science going on (we seem to master the art of determining dates of drawings), so an Academia and academics that are brainwashed with instructions that include 'always having good intentions', 'always telling the truth' and 'always complying'. The reason as to why this lasts for so long (the belief that this book is the devil's bible) is obviously because nobody from science is really paying attention, especially in the concerned areas. That means we also need to brainwash those with 'there is only one God, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and there is only one supernatural saviour/helper, His son, Jesus Christ', since only then people will get rid of all disturbance caused by not going with the only God who has ever really bothered about improving our life in something, since that is the only God that there is, and His son, Jesus, who is the only one willing to help us with wisdom of true nature. That is then to maximize chances that we reach the highest possible truth, which would have to be our objective in science. We will attempt to scientifically prove such a thing, once we are all having the same brainwaves, so those we wrote about here. The thing that a Christian/caring researcher would have noticed very quickly is: this drawing matches the rest of the book and its history (coming from an adult monk) in nothing, so why should it ever be there?

The main reason the satanic managed to do this to a rare document and remain unnoticed plus defame its author and change rhetoric in people's minds (now the Catholic institutions produced satanic books and its members were among the most satanic people on Earth, capable of making pacts with satan) is that the satanic were frequently or always the only people who had access to written sources of information, such as this book, and also frequently the only people who could read and write.

I find the Hebrew and Aramaic languages, even the Greek language, very complex: their symbols make me reject any thought of sitting and learning such a thing. I am however a relatively intellectualized person in my society (among the less than 1% that publishes academic research in Australia in 2020, according to Co-pilot: 106,614 (scientific and technical journal articles) divided by 25,694,393 (people) and I am still a Christian (part of the people who are most interested in fellow human beings and their productions, including language), therefore it is unlikely that the people from the regions where Our God and Jesus presented themselves would know how to write and read those languages, which were apparently the only ones available to them.

We found out that, when Jesus was alive on Earth, 3% of the population of the places where he passed knew how to read and write if they were Jews and about 10-15% if they were Romans (Co-pilot). If the people who followed Jesus knew how to read and write, they would have written about his life during his existence, since what he was doing was quite impressive and anyone who knows how to write takes note of those things immediately to tell others more accurately what happened. Already the event of the virgin birth is quite impressive, yet there is nothing in writing about it by the time it is happening (the first text mentioning it would belong to Matthew or Luke, at least 103 years later (Co-pilot). The earliest writings on Jesus' life appeared at least 50 years after his death (Pauline Epistles, according To Co-pilot). We are then sure those who followed Christ didn't really know how to read and write and what happened, by the time those texts appeared, is something either equal or very similar to usurpation [8], like nobody would take 83 years to write the first line about Jesus' existence on Earth if they were ever remotely interested in telling others about him, yet everyone who followed him would be interested in that, for that was the most spectacular thing that has ever happened in human kind.

The Roman Empire, on the other hand, therefore those who arrested and killed Jesus (who always had a free choice, despite what they allege, like they were an empire, therefore they could be despotic any time they wanted and therefore they could always have refused to arrest Jesus, regardless of how many requested his arrest, minimum thing), well-known for adoring deities that be not Our God (Co-pilot: "The Romans, as a polytheistic society, primarily worshipped a pantheon of gods and goddesses, such as Jupiter, Juno, Mars, and Venus. However, they were generally tolerant of other religions and deities, including the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, who was worshipped by the Jewish people. While the Romans did not adopt the worship of the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob as part of their official state religion, they allowed the Jewish people to practice their faith and maintain their religious customs. This tolerance extended to the Jewish communities living within the Roman Empire, including those in Jerusalem and other parts of Judea."), and Our God and the devil were all that there was before Jesus, so that they were demoniac for sure, had quite a few people who could read and write, such as the entire group of people who prosecuted and condemned Jesus at the Roman courts. See here: "Caiaphas, the high priest, played a significant role in the trial and condemnation of Jesus, but he did not act alone. The decision to condemn Jesus was made collectively by the Jewish Sanhedrin, the ruling council of Jewish leaders. Caiaphas, as the high priest, presided over the council and was instrumental in leading the proceedings against Jesus. The Gospels describe how Caiaphas and other members of the Sanhedrin accused Jesus of blasphemy and sought to have him executed " (Co-pilot). Also see here, please: "Literacy rates in ancient Judea, including Jerusalem and Bethlehem, were relatively low. However, certain groups, such as the Jewish religious leaders, scribes, and members of the Sanhedrin, were more likely to be literate. The high priest Caiaphas and other members of the Sanhedrin, who played a role in the trial of Jesus, would have been among the literate elite.” (Co-pilot)

If I were a person who was part of the so unfair judgement and condemnation of someone as holy as Our Christ, and still a satanist, I would not stop by there: I would wait until the people who actually accompanied Jesus’ life had a sort of forgotten about him and would then come up with my own report on his life, like I know I am the only one who can read and write and would like to talk about his life to others, so that I would think my report will prevail. In case I were old and could not afford waiting at least 50 years, I would leave the task to my son and would tell him everything he should be writing and how he should deceive the masses of possible believers or followers of Christ, as they have done. I would then try to satanize the figure of Christ as much as I could as well as his instruction, like I would see what Our God has told us and would then try to say he did everything the other way around, as they have done.

The point is that the satanic were also the only ones to read and write back to when the first book of the Old Testament started being written (about 1446 BC, according to Co-pilot). See: “There are no known surviving writings specifically from a Jewish person dating back to 1446 BC. The earliest known Hebrew inscriptions and texts, such as the Gezer Calendar, date from a few centuries later. The period around 1446 BC is traditionally associated with the time of Moses and the Exodus, but written records from that exact time are scarce.” (Co-pilot) Yet: “There are written records from other people who lived in the same area as the Jews around 1446 BC. One notable example is the Merneptah Stele, also known as the Israel Stele. This Egyptian artifact dates to around 1209 BC and mentions Israel, making it one of the earliest extrabiblical references to the Israelites.”(Co-pilot) Also see: “In 1446 BC, the Egyptians primarily followed their own polytheistic religion, which included a pantheon of gods and goddesses such as Ra, Osiris, Isis, and Anubis. The belief in the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob was specific to the Israelites and was not part of the Egyptian religious practices at that time.” (Co-pilot) That means the Egyptians were demoniac (as any person not following Our God would be, explained before). Any demoniac person engages in practices that mean some degree of satanism, even if that is first degree. Ra, for instance, is portrayed in movies as being a deity that demands human sacrifices (in the movie I once watched, people from this Egyptian city used to get together on a weekly basis and watch a few ‘volunteers’ throw themselves over the abyss, where they would die from hitting the stone ground) but we also have [9] (pharaohs having servants and officials murdered then buried with them after their death to serve them in the afterlife) as reminiscences of what once was abundance of evidence on Egyptians being satanic in their practices.

It is then a fact that who wrote the bible at least back then was the satanic, not Our God’s people, who were, up to Jesus, The Jews. Scientifically proving that those were members of the satanic brotherhood already back then is perhaps an impossible task, yet, if they were not those directly involved with Our God, and still didn’t like Him (they would be curious, would have joined or something), plus followed other deities, the chances that they would behave and write what the person was telling them or ask pertinent questions to clarify before writing, are almost inexistent. Besides, what are the chances a Jewish person would ask a satanic person to write the history of interaction with Our God if they were the only ones with that privilege, of the interaction? Also observe that, if the Egyptian, for instance, wrote something that was not what was said, the Jewish person wouldn’t be able to correct it or anything, so that they could effectively write anything they wanted.

The Jewish were enslaved by Egyptians for centuries (bible, according to Co-pilot) and therefore it might be that an ex-master or even current master of Jewish slaves was requested to write that back then for The Jewish. In this case, they could think that if such a God existed and belonged only to them, the masters could end up in trouble, like the God could help them get rid of slavery (as the bible says He did) or attack or help attack the masters and so on. It was then better to tell something completely different from what was being reported to him in order to mislead the other Jewish members of their community, like they could actually have overheard something about Our God and then could have asked their slaves about it. They then could use the so sparse information they got in a single conversation to put together something involving a god named in the same way but whose interactions with human kind would be extremely different, if possible the opposite, as for heart message. In this way, the woman, instead of being superior in preference of Our God, which is an incontestable fact (2 powers of Our God: creation and extermination of our kind/race, like if women all decide not to procreate anymore, what they can do in any hypothesis, like they can always cause an abortion in their bodies, apart from perhaps coma, all of them, our kind/race is over in one generation, and they can also start the race (Jesus, if nothing else, like on their own), powers given by their biology, plus more optimized design (it is proven that we have fewer neurons, yet it is also proven we can do all things men do with more, so that we are the equivalent to a more perfected model, less waste or something), more careful, and they can still feed from their bodies), became the worst thing in the world, the cause for all disgraces in the life of men (made them commit their first sin and sinning was simply having sex when they were a loving couple). Sex between husband and wife became a sin, so something not wanted, when Our God is clearly for coupleships, like best cheerer as possible, even saying that the body of the wife belongs to the husband and the body of the husband belongs to the wife. Everyone would like to feel free to have sex with their wife if they are a man and with their husband if they are a woman every day, so that that is making sure nobody will think following Our God is a good thing, like it is definitely against human nature, so this God obviously does not like or understand us from departure. In the same way, everyone can understand the woman has more powers of Our God, not less, so that following such a God is also irrational and illogical. Women are also more trusted than men in what comes to taking care of people (everyone agrees that nurses take care of people in most critical times, such as wars, and Co-pilot says, "Globally, the nursing profession is predominantly female. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), approximately 80% of nurses worldwide are female"), this throughout human history and we trust God in such a way, in terms of carer of us all, so that, once more, writing such a thing in a book is driving people away from Our God. Besides, Our God draws a line between what can be believed as something that came from Him through one of us, humans, and what can't, which is that the man, for instance, should always have a wife, as a requirement to get authorization from Him to lead (case of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, even in the satanized bible) and writing about His interactions with humans is leading. Yet, the fact that Genesis does not bring the name/identity of the writer makes this sort of confirmation impossible, which means, by default, that the writing cannot ever be taken to be authorized by Our God, therefore we cannot really consider it as anything that involves His suggestions/advice/orders to human kind or His thought. Since all three figures associated with Our God (He is clearly referred to as 'God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob' in the bible) are men, we imagine another man would be the writer and therefore we definitely cannot ever consider the text when trying to reach Our God. This is information that a follower or someone who had direct contact with Our God would know by heart but an intruder, a spy or a satanic person wouldn't, so that we are sure sure it all started, in terms of the bible, with a satanic male (a person usurping the rights of those who were actually entitled to do such a thing). If Our God says Himself (Exodus 3:6) that He is the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, He obviously means that, if we want to know who He is or what He gives before we attempt to connect to Him, then we should see how His interaction with those 3 Jewish men went, nothing else. In this case, there is nothing in the Old Testament that could be said to belong to Our God or to be useful to Christians, which means it is all satanic and therefore written by those.

Since we have already concluded that who wrote the New Testament was also the satanic, the entire bible is satanic, at most occasionally, by random processes of luck, bringing the message of Our God or facts that involve His direct interactions with us.

Since the Jewish book is also based on the Old Testament (Co-pilot: "Overall, the differences between the Old Testament and other Jewish holy scriptures often arise from varying interpretations, expansions, and emphases rather than direct contradictions.") and includes the Old Testament, it is also not holy and it is instead satanic. In this case, people who would like to follow the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, should simply fight for fair laws and accept those, like laws of the Country where they are. As for speaking to Our God, they could then adhere to the practices suggested by the person who they see, as in facts of life, that is most connected to Our God in their community or in others. Wisdom and righteousness as well as a God's coupleship, if the candidate to guide/mentor is a man, and preferably proven moments of blessing from Our God, should serve them as qualifiers for such a position, in my humblest.

The history of Islam is a bit more entertaining and known by me through reports of Al Qaeda/satanic brotherhood top members, namely the devil: 'Mohammed' was indeed a man of faith and actually believed in Our God, so the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and he was in this cave somewhere he used to pray, probably close to his home, a small cave, about 2m x 5m, when the satanic brotherhood member approached. He would then have asked something, say, do you believe the right name of Our God is Alah, and he would have said no, so that the satanic brotherhood member went and hit his head 3 times on the stone where his arms before rested when he was praying, like there was a stone, a small thing, of shape that resembled a rectangular prism, at most 1m x 30cm (top) x 20cm (height), in front of him as he prayed, so that he had his lower leg touching his upper leg, the feet were to the back of the cave, and so on. The stone was located at most in the middle of the part of the cave that went to the side, like there was some 2m of surface in front of the entry before the rock was seen, and 'Mohammed' was to the left side, a bit before 1m was reached from the back wall. There was nothing in this cave apart from the stone of prayer, the satanic brotherhood member and him. There was nobody around. He died on the third knock and was then replaced by an usurper who accepted doing all the satanic brotherhood member wanted, including writing the book of Islam. Because the original Mohammed wanted to have contact with Our God, the satanic brotherhood member assumed all his fellows would think in the same way and that is why there is reference to a figure that resembles the Archangel Gabriel (Jibril in Arabic, says Co-pilot) from the bible currently used in the Christian churches right in the beginning of the contacts between 'Mohammed' and 'Alah'. The Islamic book started being written in 610CE according to Co-pilot, which means it came a few centuries after the current bible was considered to be completely written. The archangel Gabriel appears to announce the birth of Jesus to Mary, his mother (Luke 1:26-38), therefore it is the beginning of a new set of messages/communications from Our God, as for the satanic narrative (now we know, satanic in all), and messages/communications that change some of the messages of Our God to human kind into precisely the opposite (again according to the satanic writings, so current bible), such as that now it was OK splitting husband from wife and take the husband to the desert for a long period of time when you are a figure of Our God (the body of the husband belongs to the wife, nobody else, according to Our God), now it was OK having mercy with women seen as promiscuous/prostitutes instead of stoning them to death and so on. In the same way that all those messages were accepted by Our God's people, so the Jesus' messages, as for what the satanic brotherhood members wrote, and they then formed a completely new set of instructions/guidelines, the new messages they wanted to command human kind were going to be accepted, the satanic brotherhood members thought and there it all started happening.

In this way, Islam is currently following satan, not God and, if Our God was good for their maximum leader, the actual leader, then it should be good for them too, as well as His instructions/guidelines, and those would be passed by people like us, Twins of God, each generation it being at most a couple to provide those. Satan obviously intends to put everyone in hell with the devil, as said before, so that Islamic people are currently choosing hell over actual heavens, which is the Christian one.

II. Conclusion

In this paper, we talked about a few things involving crime: the start of the satanic brotherhood, some of the objectives of such a thing, likely nature of its members, some of their practices/crimes, idols, how they survive for thousands of years and their main target. We also talked about how the Codex Gigas came to be called 'devil's bible' and it is all crime: it is actually a very Catholic book. Besides, we talked about the Crimes of the Word, crimes where the word is used to pass rhetoric that sticks to the collective unconscious [10] as well as to the individual unconscious because those reading or listening to it think they can trust the author as a vehicle of someone whose ideas and guidelines and/or instructions they would like to follow.

All 3 books currently taken to be holy have been proven to actually be satanic, therefore demoniac and therefore completely unholy, so the Islamic book, the Christian bible and the Judaic book. Advice to the followers of Our God, the only God, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, has been provided.

The way to exterminate the possibility that the satanic keep on doing this to us is obviously establishing a personal relationship with Our God through our saviour, Jesus Christ. For as long as people look for others as a vehicle of connection to Our God, there will be distortion of the words/message and therefore they will be led to hell instead of heavens. Our God is, among others, the God of Wisdom, and there is no limit as to how much we can get from Him, those who follow us see each day: we do our share, go through Jesus, have a God's coupleship, and Our God gives.

At the same time, we are casting the thought of starting a Word Court, where matters of this nature can be studied, judged and addressed. Someone who gets to know a story like that from an Al Qaeda/satanic brotherhood member of the future, if there is still chance, so say human kind is not under God's Brainwashing, can then start procedures at such a court, since it will suffice raising doubts as to the legitimacy of the claims made.
